Handcrafted tub fillers can be tailored to virtually any design vision, installation requirement, or luxury bathing experience

(Petaluma, CA, July 23, 2026)

Sonoma Forge offers designers something rare in the plumbing industry: the ability to customize a handcrafted tub filler. While most tub fillers are limited to standard dimensions and configurations, Sonoma Forge offers the ability to create made-to-order fixtures that can be tailored to unique architectural conditions, oversized tubs, and highly personalized luxury bath environments. For designers seeking a truly unique solution, Sonoma Forge offers a level of customization that transforms the tub filler from a standard specification into an integral part of the overall bath design.

As statement-making freestanding tubs continue to grow in popularity, designers are increasingly faced with

Sonoma Forge tub fillers can be customized for any design vision

“Luxury bath design has become increasingly personalized, yet many plumbing products are still built around standard configurations. We work closely with designers to create tub fillers that fit the project rather than forcing the project to fit the fixture. That flexibility allows us to solve unique design challenges while maintaining the handcrafted character Sonoma Forge is known for.” —Erik Ambjor, Sonoma Forge President installation challenges that off-the-shelf tub fillers weren't designed to address. Sonoma Forge meets those challenges through a highly flexible approach to tub filler design, allowing modifications to height, reach, width, spout style, mounting configuration, and more. Whether a project calls for an extra-tall floor-mounted tub filler, an extended spout reach, a wall-mounted installation, or a custom configuration designed for an unconventional tub placement, Sonoma Forge can tailor a solution to meet the project's exact requirements—all while maintaining the company's signature rustic-meets-industrial aesthetic.

Available in the company's best-selling WaterBridge collection, as well as the versatile WherEver and sleek Strap collections, Sonoma Forge tub fillers are offered in floor-, deck-, and wall-mounted configurations. Designers can choose between a sculptural WaterFall or angular Elbow spout, specify lever or cross handles, and add an optional hand shower to create a fixture that complements the overall design vision.

Beyond aesthetics, Sonoma Forge tub fillers deliver generous flow rates ranging from 10 to 15 GPM (gallons per minute), depending on the style. This exceptional performance makes them particularly well-suited for today's larger soaking tubs, helping reduce fill times while maintaining the luxurious bathing experience homeowners expect.

Handcrafted and assembled by skilled artisans, every Sonoma Forge tub filler reflects the company's commitment to exceptional metalworking and enduring craftsmanship. Drawing inspiration from traditional industrial foundries, Sonoma Forge celebrates the beauty of forged metal through distinctive bath fixtures that serve as both functional necessities and bold design statements.
